

Relative decrease in number of operations for various approximation configurations

